

Actavis. Your Future of Opportunity.

The new Actavis, Inc. (NYSE:ACT) is a combination of the previously separate Watson Pharmaceuticals, Inc. and Swiss-based Actavis Group. Actavis is a specialty pharmaceutical company that develops, manufactures and distributes generic, brand and biosimilar products.

We offer one of the most rewarding work environments in the industry. Our continued global transformation is creating unique opportunities across our Company – opportunities that encourage individuals to grow, contribute, innovate and excel.

Product Analyst – Business Development - Parsippany, NJ

Actavis, Inc., the world's third largest generic pharmaceutical company, is looking for a Product Analyst to work with the Business Development group in the Parsippany, NJ office.

The Business Development group defines the strategic direction of the generic portfolio in the Americas region. The Product Analyst will provide support and key information to various individuals within BD and across the organization.

Responsibilities:

- Perform competitive intelligence activities in support of the company's generic portfolio strategy
- Conduct analyses and prepare reports for senior management
- Support the department's databases and business intelligence tools
- Assist in day-to-day management of the department activities and processes

Required Skills:

- Bachelor's degree in pharmaceuticals, engineering, science, business, or a related field
- Excellent analytical skills and comfort working with and maintaining large amounts of data
- Ability to clearly communicate and educate peers/functional experts/leadership on projects and tasks
- Ability to work independently, taking strategic guidelines and translating into tactical work
- Familiarity with Microsoft Office and other business software applications

We're looking for the best and brightest people from the fields of science and business to be a part of the excitement at Actavis! If you are fast-paced, results-oriented and ready to make a solid career decision, this role will offer you the opportunity to join a growing, lucrative industry while impacting the organization with your strategic initiatives and sound leadership.

Join Our Global Team www.ActavisCareers.com

